School May Hold Tax Rate

Taxes charged by the Canyon Independent School District will probably not be raised next year if the district administration prepares a formal budget similar to an estimate presented Tuesday night.

Superintendent Jerry Jacobs gave school board members a sneak preview of the 1970-71 budget. The preliminary report issued at the board's Tuesday meeting indicates expenditures totaling $2,268 million, an increase of more than $300,000 over last year's budget.

Revenues according to the proposal also total $2,268 million.

"There will be a few changes made (in the final budget proposal), but the overall projection will be within $7,000 to $9,000 of what the major categories show right now," Jacobs said.

The superintendent said the income for the preliminary budget proposal is figured on the current $1.65 tax rate—the same rate the school district has had for two years.

"It looks logical to project a $1.65 tax rate for next year," Jacobs said. "With all the things that are going on, all the new legislation, the changes in costs, I felt real happy about being able to project that we can stay on the same tax rate another year."

Jacobs said the district's ability to continue with the same tax rate for three years "is unbelievable to me."

The largest item for expenditures in the preliminary proposal involves teacher salaries. The proposal indicates $1.5 million be spent on instruction next year. This compares with a $1.1 million set aside in the 1969-70 budget.

Jacobs said the increase in teacher salaries is largely due to legislation requiring raises and to the addition of new programs to the school district's curriculum.

Largest source of income for the district is various state agencies. State sources provide $1.28 million to the district. This, too, has been increased more than $400,000 over last year.

Frank Davis Files for Writ In County Ballot Feud

Francis B. "Guy" Davis Wednesday filed a petition for a writ of mandamus in an effort to force County Judge Carroll Brown to place his name on the November ballot for county commissioner.

Davis seeks to run as an independent against Bill Butler who is the incumbent Republican commissioner of Precinct 4.

Judge Brown has refused to have Davis' name placed on the ballot. The county judge says he cannot legally do so under the Texas Election Code.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton reports that the election section of the secretary of state's office sides with Brown on the matter. Hutton also is a Republican and in the primary endorsed Butler.

Brown is running for 181st District Court judge on the Republican ticket and currently serves on commissioners court with Butler. Davis has charged politics in the Brown refusal and declares that the law provides for him to run for the office as an independent.

The petition, filed at noon Wednesday, cites Article 13.50 of the Texas Election Code as its basis in law.

It sets out that a petition signed by more than five per-

Junior High Finish Date Uncertain

Canyon's new junior high school may not be fully operational when school starts in late August.

That was the somewhat gloomy prediction of Architect Russell Megert and School Supt. Jerry Jacobs.

The two told members of the school board Tuesday night that "there's more to do than is going to get done."

On Aug. 26, the first day of class, "we're still going to be building, I'm afraid," Megert said.

Jacobs said although some areas of the building will be incomplete, he feels the major areas will be ready for student use.

"There is a good chance it

Four members of the Randall County Sheriff's Posse practice their handoffs during a session Tuesday night. They are preparing for the 5th annual world championship pony express races which begin Friday night here. The races are a part of the Canyon Days celebration which is to include a parade, dedication and barbecue Saturday.

Parade, Dedication, Meal To End 1st Canyon Days

Parading, dedicating, eating and racing will climax the first annual Canyon Days celebration this weekend.

Saturday is the big day of the week-long celebration, even though some activities get underway Friday night.

The first round of the World Championship Pony Express Races, sponsored by Randall County Sheriff's Posse, begins at 8 p.m. Friday in the arena east of Canyon on Spur 48.

Fourteen riding clubs from various towns have said they will compete in the races, which are set for Friday and Saturday nights.

Clubs will come from Canyon, Rolling Hills, Kress, Hereford, Tulia, Lubbock, Plainview, Floydada, Cadogan, Okla., Carrollton and Lewisville.

The fifth annual races will be open to the public for $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children.

On hand for the races will be Clark Jamigan, former Canyon resident, now executive director of the American Association of Riding Clubs and R. B. Allen, also a former city resident, now the association executive vice president.

Plainview's red team is defending champion and will be out to cinch their title another year.

Finals in the races begin at 8 p.m. Saturday.

About 10 p.m. Friday, Wood Pond, county juvenile probation officer, will begin cooking 600 pounds of beef for Saturday's noon barbecue.

The beef will cook all night over a mesquite fire with Pond's special barbecue sauce.

Saturday morning begins with a bang at 10:30 a.m.

A parade will travel through downtown Canyon, Palo Duro Village and to Conner Park.

Featured in the parade will be the competing riding (See DAYS, Page 2)

Large Nance Hereford Ranch Donated To University School Of Agriculture

A landmark Hereford ranch, once the site of some of the nation's largest stock sales, will become the showcase of the West Texas State University School of Agriculture.

The property is the 2,393-acre George Nance Hereford Ranch 6½ miles east of the university near the famed Palo Duro Canyon.

In announcing the acquisition, Dr. James P. Cornette, university president, said:

"Lucille Nance Jones, joined by her husband, L. L. Jones, has agreed to donate to West Texas State University, effective Jan. 1, 1971, the 2,393-acre George Nance Hereford Ranch with reservation of life estate in the property to themselves, but with WTSU having full use of the property by lease agreement after Jan. 1, 1971."

Mrs. Jones was the widow of Nance, who died Nov. 24, 1954.

The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System authorized West Texas State this week to accept the ranch.

The ranch is composed of 670 acres cultivated and 1,723 acres of native open pasture with excellent improvements, said Dr. Charles M. Smallwood, dean of the School of Agriculture.

"I could not be more emphatic, satisfied, or enthusiastic at the possibility of acquiring this property," he said. "It is ideal and opportunities such as this are fast disappearing and already almost non-existent, especially for an institution."

The property, a portion of the original 10,000-acre Nance Hereford Ranch, known throughout the Panhandle and the Hereford cattle world as the center of one of the top 10 registered Hereford herds in the United States, includes among its improvements a 60-foot by 100-foot pavilion where Nance hosted some of the bigger stock shows and sales in the nation.

A feeding and fitting barn, 200 by 50 feet, a metal barn, 100 by 24 feet already earmarked for use in university feedlot management courses, a large poultry house, granaries, pens and lots also make up the headquarters area.

Ample housing facilities are available, including the main house with its four bedrooms and four baths.

The university, in need of permanent lands for use in producing and sustaining animals for class and laboratory use, will transfer several of its livestock herds from its 130-acre farm, Smallwood said. It will also be the center of operations for the new horse production program approved for this fall, he added.

In the past, the school has rented pastures for its plant science students, for research and for demonstration (See NANCE, Page 11)

Experience A Problem For WT Offensive Line

(This is part of a series of articles on a position-by-position analysis of West Texas State University's 1970 football squad.)

West Texas State University's offensive line will have a new look this fall as only one athlete will be returning at the same post he played last fall. But with their four top pass receivers returning, the Buffs will be long on experience at those positions.

Wayne Adams, 6-4, 270-pound junior tackle from Houston, started at that post last fall and he is again listed as the number one right tackle.

Dale Donoho, who started the final half of the season at left tackle, has been moved to right guard to help fill three gaps in the center of the Buffalo line caused by graduation.

Offensive line coach Jack "Sleepy" Harris had many new faces with which to (See BUFFS, Page 11)

Week's Rain Little Aid To Dry Farms, Ranches

Even with scattered showers over the county Sunday, Monday and Tuesday morning, the area is still far below its quota for moisture.

In effect, about all the rain accomplished was to provide temporary relief from high temperatures.

For farmers and ranchers, the rains changed little. Randall County desperately needs a good downpour.

That's the feeling of John Brazzil, county agent.

"Most of Randall County still remains on the dry side," he said. "It looks like, from most reports, we're very much in need of moisture at all levels."

Brazzil said very few areas of the county received even so much as an inch of moisture from the three wet days.

"It's tremendously dry here," he said. "The ranges and pastures have been dry for a long time and the grass production in the last 60 days has been very limited."

Brazzil said supplementary feeding has become a common practice.

The outlook for farmers is equally bleak.

"Quite a few areas of the county exist in which farmers couldn't plant dryland crops such as grain sorghum," Brazzil said. "The time has passed to plant so they have missed out."

Brazzil said the time is also growing short for enough moisture to accumulate to facilitate the planting of forage crops.

In Canyon, the U. S. Weather Bureau reports that only .02 of an inch fell Tuesday. On Monday, .12 of an inch fell and no moisture was reported Sunday.

With this week's rain, the total moisture for July in Canyon is .17 of an inch, well below the 2.34 inches average for July.

Canyon residents cut down on the use of their water by almost half on Monday when they used just 1.8 million gallons. Prior to Monday, city use had averaged about 3.5 million gallons per day.

The temperature dropped sharply with the rains and (See RAIN, Page 11)

Free Expression Goal Of Teacher

Teaching children to express themselves freely in art and dancing is the approach of Mrs. Natalie Robinson Cole, guest lecturer this week in the kindergarten curriculum course offered by the WTSU School of Teacher Education.

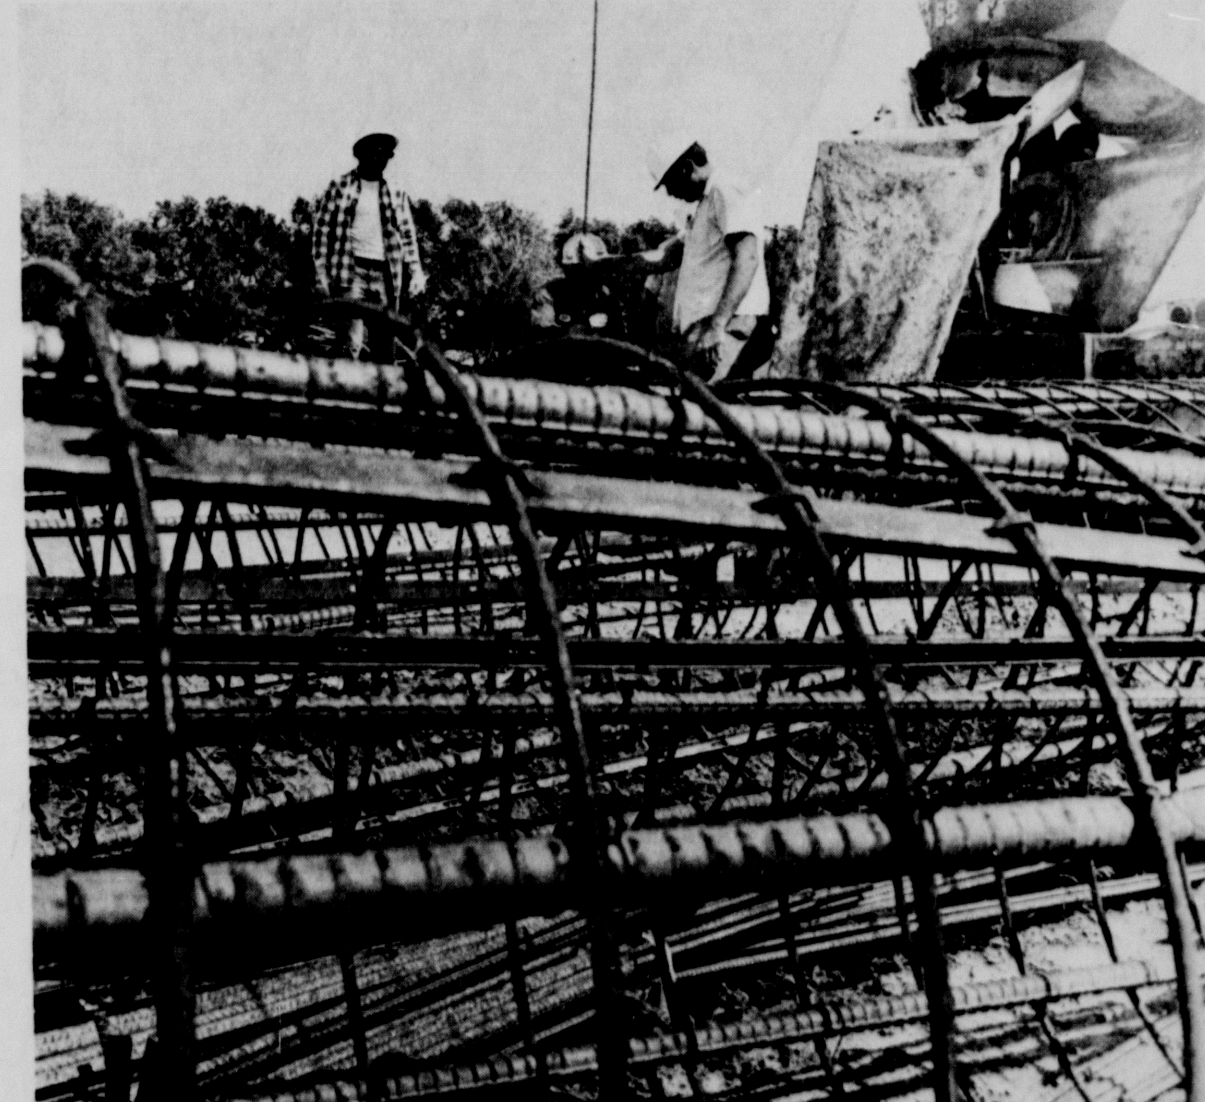

Mrs. Cole lectured and demonstrated her approach to the 35 members of the class Tuesday and Wednesday at Rex Reeves Elementary School.

"A child feels the fundamentals of art down in his bones," she stressed to the students in the class, taught by Dr. Ruth Lowes and Mrs. Carol Hollingsworth.

"We need to stress to the children to paint things the way they feel them. They shouldn't be inhibited by being made to feel they must duplicate the exact color of something. Let them choose their own colors—it's more fun that way," she said.

"If a child draws a (See FREE, Page 11)

The people who are clamoring for a constitutional amendment to allow election of the President and vice president by popular vote instead of through the electoral college don't realize they are trying to change our form of government.

In my opinion, the best form of government ever devised is a republic and that is what we now enjoy. If we abolish the electoral college and go to popular vote, the republic is no more.

Then ten great population centers of the nation can elect the President.

These population centers all too often are controlled by political bosses in coalition with the underworld. It is entirely possible under the popular system for the mafia to swing enough strategic votes to name the occupant of the White House.

Wouldn't it be dandy for an Al Capone to name the President of the United States?

The electoral system is not perfect but I think it still is the best available method.

I'm reminded of what Benjamin Franklin had to say when he emerged from the session which framed the Constitution.

"What kind of government did you give us Dr. Franklin?" a woman is reported to have asked him.

"A republic, madam, if you can keep it," Franklin replied.

I hear the convention system of selecting Presidential candidates abused a lot by liberal commentators and on TV talk shows.

I agree that a state that has a Presidential primary should give its delegate votes to the winner at the national convention of the party involved.

But I do not agree that the Presidential primaries are essentially superior in naming a candidate. The convention system assures participation of only interested people who usually are above average in qualifications.

All you have to do to be a participant in naming your party's presidential candidate is go to your precinct convention.

There you will meet other people who had enough interest to show up. You likely will be chosen a delegate to the county convention.

Usually if you have worked for your party you won't have much trouble in getting named a delegate to the state convention. There the sledding gets tougher. But at the state convention delegates are named to the national convention and these delegates select the party's standard bearer.

What is so sinister about such an open process?

Francis Shell was a medical corpsman in Korea and knows something of what our men face in Vietnam. He is a little disgusted with some of the charges brought against American combat soldiers.

He is especially concerned about murder charges brought against American soldiers while engaging the enemy or in the near proximity of enemy forces.

clubs. But, also included will be floats from the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation's production "TEXAS," and the Randall County 4-H Club.

New cars from various dealers will be shown in the parade. Miss Canyon, Cynthia Byars, will ride in the parade as will members of an Amarillo Model A Ford club.

A combined Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps color guard will walk.

Canyon city commissioners and Randall County commissioners will ride in the parade as will West Texas State University President James P. Cornette.

Equipment from the Canyon Fire Department will run in the parade.

Chamber of Commerce President Eddie Knowles said children are invited to decorate their bicycles and participate in the parade. It will begin at 13th Street and 4th Avenue.

At about 11:30 a.m., four Randall County historical markers will be dedicated by the Randall County Historical Survey Committee in Conner Park.

Master of ceremonies will be County Judge Carroll Brown.

Dr. J. Manly Bryan, mayor of Canyon, will accept the markers.

Mrs. Ralph Randel, a member of the Texas Historical Foundation, will dedicate a marker commemorating the "Range of the Ciboleros."

Monte Richie, owner of the JA Ranch and grandson of Mrs. John G. Adair, will dedicate a marker of the "Old JA."

A marker of the "Battle of Palo Duro Canyon," will be dedicated by Ernest R. Archambeau, an Amarillo historian.

likely to kill you was like trying to tell the difference between people from Canyon and people from Amarillo," Shell declared.

He told of one refuge column in which about every fourth person was a north Korean armed with a sub-machine gun. He said children running up to GI trucks for gum often would toss hand grenades into the truck and kill a score of American soldiers.

"Our troops finally had to fire on anyone, man, woman or child who approached one of our trucks," he related.

Civil War veteran George Washington Lair, will dedicate a marker commemorating "Civil War Veterans Reunions."

Immediately following the dedications will be the giant barbecue lunch, also in Conner Park. The meal will cost $1.50 for adults and $1 for children.

The menu includes barbecue beef, beans, apple sauce, relish plates and iced tea.

will be basically completed in the major areas where we can go ahead and start classes," he said.

The school board also reviewed several policies of the Pasadena School District concerning student dress, employee dress, drug abuse and student disruption.

Jacobs presented Pasadena's policies as examples. He said the Canyon district needs set policies in the same areas and the Pasadena rules might be used for guidelines.

No formal action was taken on the guidelines, but the board indicated policies will probably be formulated and approved next month.

Some examples of Pasadena's policies:

On dress for girls—No trouser-type garments shall be worn. No dresses or skirts which are higher than five inches above the crease in the bend of the leg behind the knee. No sunglasses. No long, dangling earrings. Girls may wear boots and long dresses (down to the ankles).

On dress for boys—Belts must be worn with trousers designed for belts. All shirts, except shirt-jacs and banlon shirts, must be tucked in. Socks must be worn with shoes. Sideburns must not extend below the ear. Hair must be tapered to a thin edge in the back—not blocked. Hair must be of reasonable length on top.

On drug abuse—"Any student found in possession of, having used, or under the influence of marijuana, any narcotic, hallucinatory, hypnotic, or sedative drug or any chemical, alcohol, or stimulant not prescribed by a licensed physician, shall be expelled from classes. . . for the remainder of the school term."

On student disruptions—Any student inciting, encouraging, promoting or participating in a protest demonstration, disruption, riot, sit-in, walkout, blockage of entrances, etc., will be suspended from school. Legal action may also be taken against a student for the above.

In other business, the board heard recommendations from a Joint Professional Communication Committee, made up of teachers and administrators.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

With the approach of the new school year, the authorities seem to agree with the general public that all is not well with our educational system. The only proposed solutions, however, that have appeared in the news media have been more integration, more tax money, smaller teacher-pupil ratios, and better qualified teachers.

"Better qualified" seems to imply teachers with one or more academic degrees. A vast host of literate Americans can't quite agree with the proposed solutions. Millions of them, who are past middle-age, learned to read and write in one-room, country school houses. The teachers were frequently girls between 18 and 20, who may or may not have been to college, but they were highly respected members of their communities.

If a country school had graduated functional illiterates the way our city schools do now, the teachers would have been fired. But if a student had been impudent-to say nothing of violent-to a teacher, the seat of his pants would have been fired at school, and again when he got home.

Those little one-room schools have produced students who have made contributions out of all proportion to their numbers to unprecedented world progress in every field of endeavor. Yet precious few of the teachers had degrees, and many of them had never had a course in education. Integration was practically unheard of, the teacher usually received a salary from $60 to $100 a month for nine months, and there was often 40 or more students from the 1st through the 8th or 9th grades.

Out educational problems cannot be solved by money and integration, any more than they could be reverting to pioneer conditions in the classrooms.

The fellow who said "the trouble with our schools is that the teachers are afraid of the principal; the principal is afraid of the superintendent; and superintendent is afraid of the school board; the school board is afraid of the parents; the parents are afraid of the kids; and the kids aren't afraid of anybody," probably voiced a realistic evaluation of our problem.

Human nature has not changed since Adam blamed Eve, and she blamed the snake. All the rationalizing in the world will not change the facts nor prevent bad seed from producing a poor harvest.

As long as students know that the teachers will promote them whether or not they learn anything, and that no one dares lay a hand on them regardless of how impudent and unruly they are, the rebellious ones will continue to dawdle, disrupt, and destroy. The idea that a child must not be frustrated by being retained in whatever grade he does not do acceptable work, or that he must not be disciplined, is impractical—and cruel.

Would it not be better to endure a little frustration as a child than to be frustrated throughout one's adult life with rejection, privation, and poverty because there is almost no place for a functional illiterate in our society? And would it not be preferable to discipline them in school than in prison?

The concept that all the ills of the world can be cured with the American taxpayers' money has only served to obscure the truth: From individuals to nations, one's problems are not likely to be solved except through one's own efforts.

This false concept has, however, produced a multitude of parasitic individuals and nations. And, as usual, the parasites despise their host. We are the "Ugly Americans" to the nations who live off our bounty, and the establishment is generally hated by the non-productive members of our society.

This counterfeit notion has also plunged us $300 billion in debt. Just the interest on our national debt costs working Americans $18 billion a year.

Shall we continue to throw good money after bad, or quit playing ostrich and start correcting the real flaws in our educational system?

Coordinating Board Approves WT Teacher Education Changes

West Texas State University broke with tradition Monday, effecting a name change and reorganization of its School of Teacher Education.

The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, meeting in Austin, authorized West Texas State to rename its education school the College of Education and to restructure it into six departments.

The proposal, made by Dr. Kenneth M. Laycock, dean, was approved by the university Board of Regents last May 1. "We will begin to phase into it this fall with completion by next fall," said Dr. Walter Juniper, academic vice president.

"The present organizational structure of the School of Teacher Education at West Texas State University is a product of history," Laycock said.

"The structure is a collection of departments existing when the School of Teacher Education was created in 1966 rather than a grouping of departments with purposeful functions and goals."

Under the reorganization, the present Department of Education-Psychology will

Raymond Brown Pleads Guilty

Raymond Brown, a starting safety last year for the West Texas State University football team, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of theft by false pretext.

County Judge Carroll Brown sentenced Brown to 30 days in jail. The sentence was probated for one year.

Brown was charged in connection with the giving of a check for merchandise at a local grocery store.

News Brief

Guests this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Britain, 1114 Hillcrest, have been Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hardin of Lee Summit, Mo., the Blaine Hardin family from Amarillo, the Bobby Hardin family from Hereford, the A. Administration will become the Department of School Services; and the Departments of Health and Physical Education and Industrial Education will remain the same.

The existing Department of Student Teaching will be eliminated and its functions placed in the proposed Departments of Elementary and Secondary Education.

Laycock said names of heads of the six departments will be announced later.

He said the administrative

'105 Facts' Available

Pamphlets concerning Amarillo, Canyon and West Texas State University will be available in the Canyon and Amarillo Chamber of Commerce offices and the News Information office at West Texas State University beginning Friday.

Entitled "105 Facts About Amarillo, Canyon and West Texas State University," the pamphlets were sponsored by the two Chambers of Commerce and were printed by Jack Donovan, director of news information at the university.

The brochure's facts concern the schools and departments at WTSU and recreational and industrial facilities in Amarillo and Canyon.

designation College of Education "is the most consistently used name for like organizations by most universities."

"The present structure allows little flexibility in staff utilization for effectuating change," Laycock said.

"What I am trying to do is to get a basic structure to allow faculty members to become more closely identified to a specialty area," he added.

The proposed changes, he said, also opens the way for more research in education as well as strengthening present graduate programs and developing new ones as they become needed. The Coordinating Board's approval of the restructuring completes an over-all

Rip McAlpine Faces Charges

Rip Hall McAlpine, 25, of Amarillo was arrested Monday night by Amarillo police and charged with a minor misdemeanor—drunk.

McAlpine is currently on probation after being found guilty in May of 1969 of possession of marijuana. He was sentenced to six years' probation.

face-lifting of the School of Teacher Education. A $248,570 renovation of the Education Building is to be finished this fall.

Laycock said, "The new structure will position the faculty for pursuit of new ways of training teachers—new curricula in teacher education that are performance-based rather than on completion of a certain number of semester hours."

Earlier this month the university received $125,010 for the first year of a four-year project to instruct teacher trainers in training teachers on a performance basis.

The money was provided by the federal government through the Texas Education Agency. Four other Texas universities are involved in the unique program.

Summer Upward Bound Gives Preview

For many high school students, a college education is a foregone conclusion.

For some, it might seem unattainable, and even unthought of.

About 50 students are finding out this summer here that a college degree is a reasonable goal and it can be accomplished with hard work and desire.

The students began work on the West Texas State University campus last week in their pre-college preparatory program—Upward Bound.

Little League All-Stars Beat Castro County, 11-4

Canyon's Little League All-Stars beat Castro County's All-Stars 11-4 Tuesday night.

The city baseballers were down four points in the first inning with nobody out when pitcher Mel Fox took the mound. The youngster struck out 13 of the next 15 batters to lead the All-Star win.

The team was to meet Dimmitt Wednesday night in the finals.

They go into the district tournament Monday at Hereford.

The program is designed to stimulate interest in students from low-income families in achieving a higher education, according to Roger Scott, assistant program director.

This summer's session is a practical exercise. In a way, it's a preview of what college is all about.

The students are between their sophomore, junior and senior years in high school.

Although most of the students take high school level courses, seven are enrolled in college courses.

The summer work is just part of a 12-month continuing program for the high schoolers, a program which consists of tutoring and counseling.

Scott said the academic phase of this summer's program will be presented in seminar style.

In addition, the entire summer course work is centered around a central theme—ecology.

Courses in social studies, science and math, language arts and reading, art, crafts and study skills are all related to ecology.

Many of the instructors for the courses are faculty members at WTSU.

While on campus, the students live in dormitories and eat in the college cafeteria. Each day is planned for classes and free and recreational time.

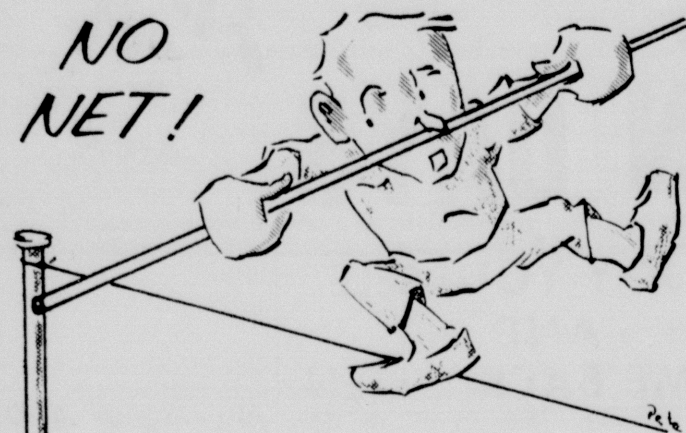

Scott stressed that the Upward Bound program does not necessarily push students toward a college education. Instead, it stresses that students receive an education beyond high school.

In the group attending school this summer, seven are "bridge" students. They are students who have graduated from high school.

Each student is enrolled in six hours of college work and is tutored in the afternoon.

Pony Express Racing Mixes Horse Race With Human Element

For years, horse racing has been a favorite spectator sport. While rodeos have lost much popular appeal, a race which pits horse against horse has won increased popularity.

In essence, this is what pony express racing is all about.

But, for added thrill, the human element has been mixed in.

The mixing, in fact the original concocting, of the now-popular pony express races was done by the Randall County Sheriff's Posse several years ago.

Since that time, the sport has spread over the country and is now a recognized event in American Association of Riding Clubs activities.

The pony express race as an event came into being several years ago when Leon Cox and Clark Jarnigan, both members of the Randall County posse, returned to Canyon from an AARC convention.

While there, they had seen a crude version of a pony express race which was under-

S.R. Caruthers Is Graduated

Stephen Ray Caruthers was graduated from the University of Nebraska at summer commencement ceremonies held Friday night, July 17, in Pershing Municipal Auditorium.

He received a Bachelor of Science in Agriculture Degree from the College of Agriculture.

About 450 students received baccalaureate and advanced degrees at the commencement ceremonies at the close of the first 5½-week summer term.

taken just for fun.

The idea stuck with them and when they returned to Canyon, they decided to include a pony express race in the county posse's annual celebration.

At that time, according to posse member Jimmy Plain, the posse sponsored a rodeo each year.

Plain said rodeos were beginning to become "a dying situation" and he said the Randall County group was looking for something which would attract some interest.

So, as an added attraction that year, two pony express teams staged a race.

"It was very popular with the crowd and it began to catch on," he said.

Soon, the Randall County posse fielded teams against other towns in tournaments.

The race spread and as it did, the ways in which the race could be run varied. Everyone, it seemed, was running a pony express race

Ten Youths Enter Show

Ten youngsters will be representing Randall County tomorrow at the 4-H District Horse show at the Bill Cody Arena in Amarillo.

The ten are Nancy Horton, Martha Johnson, Joe Watkins, Susan Ross, Dan Watkins, Kim Johnson, Stanley Cook, Mary Rucker, Janet Robinson and Jay Findley.

It is estimated that there will be 150 entries from 22 counties.

The top 20 horses from the district will enter the State Show Aug. 6, 7, and 8, which will also be held at the Cody Arena in Amarillo.

--and they were all different.

The Randall County posse then suggested to the American Association that the pony express race be adopted as an official event, that formal rules be adopted and that the races be run uniformly.

The race was adopted and is now an official event.

A pony express race is run by two teams, each made up of eight men. It is held in an arena in a circular manner.

First man of each team starts at a certain point, each carrying a set of saddle bags. The object is to circle the arena and hand the bags off to the next team member. The last team member must circle the arena and then deposit the bags in a large container in the arena's center.

First to complete the eight-man runs and deposit the bags is winner.

Essentially, the race amounts to a baton relay in track.

Fire heavily damaged this home in north Canyon early Tuesday morning. Firemen were called to the scene about 2 a.m., but were called too late to prevent the heavy damage.

Fire Damages Home

Fire heavily damaged a house owned by Mrs. Lela Campbell at 205 N. 15th St. about 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Fire Chief Jack Jennings said the one-story frame home suffered damage to all rooms from the fire. The ceiling in the home's living room collapsed as firemen arrived at the scene. Jennings said firemen were notified too late to provide effective assistance.

Six units of the Canyon fire department battled the flames until about 3 a.m.

The house was occupied by Gus A. Shurtz. Shurtz was uninjured in the fire.

Jennings said the fire apparently started in the living room of the home.

Kerbel - Kates Marriage Solemnized Saturday

Miss Sharon Marie Kerbel became the bride of George P. Kates, Jr., Saturday morning at St. Ann's Catholic Church.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by Father George Salloway and Father Jack Gist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kerbel of 14 Southridge Drive. Kates is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Kates, Sr., of Fort Worth.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown made on empire lines. The bodice was covered with imported Venise lace. The full sleeves were made of imported French illusion with wide cuffs at the wrist covered in Venise lace. The skirt was slightly gathered and fell in an A-line. The train was attached to the bodice with a large bow of French illusion. She wore a Juliet cap headdress, covered with Venise lace. The shoulder length veil was of French illusion.

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents, followed by a brunch for all guests.

Maid of honor was Mrs. Joe D. Kerbel, sister-in-law of the bride.

Best man was Bill Kates of Fort Worth, cousin of the groom.

Ushers were Joe D. Kerbel and Sammy Kerbel, brothers of the bride.

The bride will graduate in December from WTSU where she is majoring in voice. She is a member of Chi Omega, national social sorority.

The groom is a senior business management and physical education major at WTSU. A member of Phi Delta Theta, national social fraternity, he will graduate in December, also.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas, the couple will be at home at 1509 9th Ave.

Mrs. George P. Kates, Jr.

Living Textbook Workshop Sunday At WTSU

The eighth annual Living Textbook Workshop will open Sunday on the campus of West Texas State University.

The workshop, sponsored jointly by the WTSU School of Teacher Education and the Amarillo Globe News Publishing Co., will open at 4 p.m. with registration in the lobby of Jarrett Hall.

The purpose of the workshop is to help area teachers utilize newspapers and an instructional tool in the classroom, according to Dr. Jim Kidd, associate professor of education at WTSU and conference director.

Dr. Lee Williamson, superintendent of schools in Pueblo, Colo., will be keynote. He will address the teachers at the Sunday evening meal in the East Cafeteria.

Dr. Williamson previously served with the Amarillo Public Schools as teacher, assistant principal, principal, director of instruction and as assistant superintendent.

He serves on the Board of Directors of the Pueblo Chamber of Commerce, Goodwill Industries, United Fund, Advisory Board of the Rocky Mountain Boy Scout Council and is a member of the Rotary Club.

Several sessions are scheduled during the three-day workshop.

Trenton Davis, circulation manager of the Globe-News Publishing Co. will speak on "The Newspaper Business Today" at 8:30 a.m. Monday. Following him will be Thomas Thompson, editor of the Globe-Times. He will speak on "25 Years of Column Writing."

James Mangan, chief of bureau for the Associated Press in Texas, will address the teachers on "News Gathering" at the noon luncheon in the East Cafeteria at 12:15.

A live demonstration on "Classroom Uses of Newspapers" will open up the Monday afternoon sessions. Mrs. Beryl Richardson will conduct the session.

Tuesday morning Jim Clark, managing editor of the Globe-News, will speak on "The Newspaper-Make-up-Sections-Features" at the 8 a.m. session.

Hope Shackelford will conduct the 9 a.m. session on "Don't Wrap Your Garbage In It." She was the 1965 Pacemaker Award winner, cited by the National Education Association and Parade magazine.

Wes Izzard, editor and publisher of the Amarillo Daily News is scheduled to address the group at the Tuesday noon luncheon. His address will be "The Responsibility of the Newspaper to Its Community and Vice Versa."

There will be a question and answer period conducted by a panel of Globe-News executives at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday. The panel members include S. B. Whittenburg, Wes Izzard, Tommy Thompson, Paul Timmons, Jim Clark, Lowell Brown, Trenton Davis, Harry Bartlett, Basil Walker, Jim Walker and Bonnie Merriman.

Other activities have been planned for the group, including a trip to Palo Duro State Park for a performance of "TEXAS," a tour through the Globe-News Publishing Co. Plant in Amarillo, and films on teaching and newspapers.

Speeches by Dr. James P. Cornette, president of the university, and S. B. Whittenburg, publisher of the Globe-News Publishing Co., are also scheduled.

All sessions will be in the Activities Center.

Jack Edmondson, director of public services and assistant professor of education at WTSU, is conference coordinator.

Teachers were selected on a scholarship allotted basis to attend the workshop. They will be staying on the campus during the workshop.

Players To Perform Sunday At Church

A group of dramatists from Encino, Calif., will perform during regular Sunday evening worship service of the First United Methodist Church.

The Covenant Players, a self-supporting interdenominational group, will present approximately one hour of drama, including two one-act plays and shorter vignettes.

The plays are written without emphasis of specific denominational theology, but rather to challenge people to re-evaluation of whatever their personal commitment may be.

The plays cover a variety of subjects—ethics, morality, human relationships, social concern, involvement, commitment, affluence and poverty. Humor is used as a mainstay.

The Players were organized in 1963 by Charles M. Tanner. They have performed over 25,000 times in 48 states and Canada since they were formed. They have a repertoire which includes more than 130 one-act plays and shorter vignettes that run in length from five seconds to 50 minutes. Designed to fit any time slot any type of program, the plays are centered around today's man, the problems he faces or avoids.

Following the evening service, junior and senior high students at the church will have an ice cream and cake sale in Fellowship Hall.

Pittillo Is Promoted

Richard C. Pittillo, 21, son of Mrs. Jenatia Rich, Atlanta, Tex., recently was promoted to Army specialist four near An Khe, Vietnam, where he is an assistant gunner in Company A, 2nd Battalion of the 4th Infantry Division's 35th Infantry.

His wife, Roxeanna, lives on Route 2, Canyon.

Happy Group Plans Bazaar

The Holy Name Parish of Happy will hold its annual bazaar on Sunday, Aug. 2 in the parish hall.

Events will start with the dinner which will be served from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Menu will consist of barbecue beef, potatoes, peas, cole slaw, cucumber salad, relish plate, home made bread, butter, apricot cobbler, tea and coffee.

Dinner will cost $1.75 for adults, 75 cents for children, 6-12, and under six, free.

Other attractions will be a country store, a fish pond, a concession stand and games throughout the afternoon.

Legion Hall Remodeling Is Begun

A $13,128 remodeling of the Legion Hall was begun this past week by the City of Canyon, according to Howard Northcutt, city manager.

Exterior refurbishing will include a new asbestos shingle roof, a coat of white paint with black trim (including shutters) and new front doors.

Consideration For Plat Set

The Canyon Planning and Zoning Commission referred Monday night a request for plat approval to City Engineer Bill McMorris for further consideration.

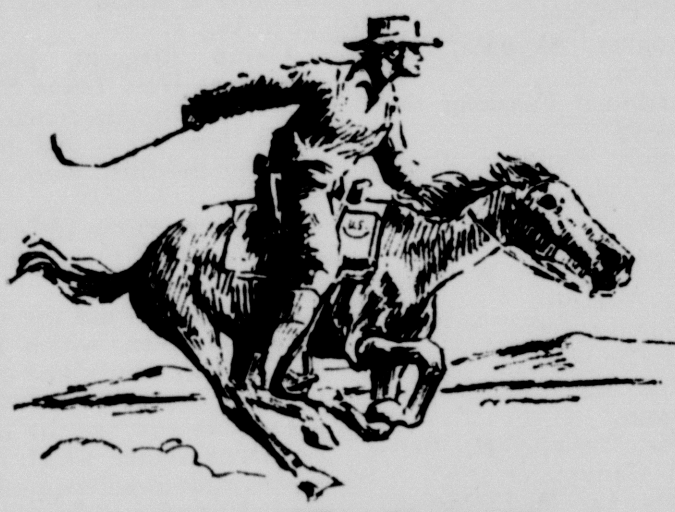

Recil Johnson presented the plat. He is planning construction of a mobil home park south of the Canyon city limits.

Johnson has requested annexation by the city, and the presentation Monday was a part of the procedure for annexation.

Workmen finished up the roof portion of the City-owned American Legion Hall last week and began Monday renovating the inside of the structure, which is used extensively by civic clubs. Construction is to be completed in 30 days.

Tennis Camp Next Week
West Texas State's third tennis camp session of the summer is slated from July 26 to Aug. 1. Camp director David Kent, the West Texas State University tennis coach, reports there are a few openings for the third week-long session. Youngsters from six states have attended the previous two camp periods. Campers will use the new tennis complex, which has 10 Uni-Turf courts and four laykold courts. They will also be able to use the new Activities Center, which has an Olympic-sized swimming pool, 10 four-wall handball courts and an eight-lane bowling alley. Persons interested in attending the camp should contact Kent at West Texas State.

3 From Camp Don Harrington Accompany Handicapped Troop

Three members of the Camp Don Harrington summer staff have been selected to accompany a troop of handicapped Boy Scouts on a trip to California.

David Low, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Low Mack Bentley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bentley and Bobby Keeney of Amarillo left early this morning with Troop 126 of Amarillo.

"Almost every boy in the troop is handicapped in some way," according to Low.

Mrs. Miller Represents UPW At Meet

Mrs. W. E. Miller represented the First Presbyterian Church recently at the triennial national meeting of United Presbyterian Women held at Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind.

Theme of this six-day conference "What Time Is It?" was taken from a passage in the book of Ecclesiastes.

Nationally known speakers presented various aspects of the theme to the women.

More than 4,600 women attended the meeting and discussed topics such as Christian unity, church efforts to combat hunger and poverty and renewed commitments to give spiritual strengthening to needed social change.

Rocky Has Poor Finish In Edinburgh

West Texas State University's halfback Rocky Thompson made a good start but a poor finish last weekend at the British Commonwealth Games held in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Thompson represented Bermuda in the games in the 100-meter race.

Last Friday, in two preliminary races, he won first and second with times under 10.3 seconds.

But, in the finals on Saturday, he finished out of the top three with a 10.4 time.

Thompson, besides being a footballer at WTSU, also runs the 100 and 220-yard dashes for the university track team.

He is a 5-11, 200-pound senior.

26 Attend Scout Camp

Twenty-six boys of Boy Scout Troop 31 have just completed a week of summer camping at Camp Don Harrington.

Roy Lyles is Scoutmaster. Attending the camp were Bob Counsellor, Denny Bryan, Marty Widick, Brent Billingsley, Ricky Lyles, Dan McGlasson, Jimmy Hanks, Eric Rathjen, Leslie Davis and James Slack.

Others were Dwight Byrd, Robert Byrd, Mike Oldham, David Lindley, Todd Clodfelter, David May, Larry Vaughan, Noel Carter, Fred Rush, Ronnie Branum, Brent May, John Hall, Terry Harper, Mike Slack, Lynn Vaughan and Eddie Jacobs.

Tapped out for Order of the Arrow were Widick, McGlasson, Clodfelter, Gary Bednorz, Davis, Wayne Pitt, May, Gene McGlasson and J. R. Clodfelter.

The troop is sponsored by the Cerebral Palsy Center in Amarillo. Scoutmaster is Chuck Passmore.

The group will be attending the Disabled American Veterans Convention in the Statler Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles and will demonstrate what Scouting is all about for handicapped troops, Low said.

Before the boys return home on Aug. 6, they will visit Disneyland and other points of interest in California, Arizona, Texas and New Mexico.

Troop 126 and the DAV are paying for the trip which will cost about $10,000 for those participating, Low said.

The three staff members were selected to go when several members of Troop 126 attended Camp Don Harrington for a week of camping.

"When the troop went home they had a meeting to vote on one staff member who would accompany them to California," Low said.

"They just wanted one boy to attend, but there was a three-way tie, so they decided we all could go," he said.

About 20 members of the troop plus the leaders are along on the trip.

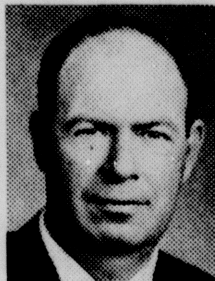

New headquarters for the WTSU Security Department is nearing completion, according to Bobby Hudson, chief of this department. The new facility is located on the north side of the campus next to the tennis courts.

News Brief

Navy Seaman Charles C. Smallwood, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles M. Smallwood of 2505 12th Ave., is now serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Constellation undergoing overhaul in Bremerton, Wash.

Perhaps you've never thought of life insurance as "happiness." But it is in many ways. It helps you get rid of financial worries so you can live a little! Each dollar you put into cash-value life insurance works like four. It works as a protection dollar. As an emergency dollar. As an opportunity dollar. And as a retirement dollar. Four ways. Ready money whenever you need it. That's a lot of happiness!

Watch Out - - Could Be Anything In Woody's Barbecue Sauce

With his chef's cap and apron and cooking utensils, Woody Pond will spearhead the Canyon Days barbecue at noon Saturday.

Pond has long loved to cook. "I had to--I wouldn't eat otherwise," said the Randall County Juvenile Probation Officer. "I cooked a lot when I went camping and worked with the Boy Scouts. I cooked out a lot when I worked with the game and fish commission."

Pond's specialty is his barbecue sauce, which he really doesn't have a recipe for.

"I don't know exactly what I put in it," he said. "It is different every time."

The sauce consists of beef suet, pepper, garlic, tomato paste, onion salt and cayenne pepper, as much as he feels like putting in, he said.

"I also add a little dab of whatever's handy that I think will make the meat taste good," he said.

Pond said he concocted the recipe for the barbecue sauce himself. "I used the trial and error method until I made it like I wanted it," he said.

"The largest ingredient is the beef suet. It makes the beef taste better if you baste the meat with the barbecue sauce the whole time you're cooking. Just a small amount will make it cook well through the meat," he said.

"I don't really have any other favorite recipes. Oh well, I guess I like steaks. I really like to cook meats better than anything else. I'm not too good at pastries, although I've mixed up a few cakes," he said.

"I make everything from scratch," he said. "I've got a recipe for sourdough biscuits that I like real well. Most of my recipes were handed down by my family."

"I don't do too much cooking anymore," he said. "My wife's too good for that."

Pond has been the chief cook at barbecues for several organizations. Two years ago, he handled a barbecue for the Sheriff's Association, along with Ray Tinsley, deputy Sheriff of Randall County. He recently handled a barbecue at Boys Ranch for the Peace Officers Association.

Pond was "drafted by my good friend Eddie Knowles" to head the barbecue committee for the Canyon Days celebration. Knowles is president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Assisting Pond will be Bill Davis, Dean House, H. D. Freeman, Rhett Plank, Troy Martin, Cary Magness, Jack Donovan, Bill Wilson, Weyman Brown, Willis Harrison, Guy Hamblen, Winston Hall, Ray Tinsley, Stanley McDonough and Carroll Wilson.

Woody Pond clowns in his office as he gathers equipment to be used during the Canyon Days barbecue Saturday in Conner Park. Pond has devised his own recipe for barbecue sauce which gets changed every time he makes it.

Man Charged In Robbery Of Construction Worker

A 20-year-old Amarillo man was charged Saturday morning with robbery by assault in connection with the beating of a construction worker and a Singer, Calif., youth is being held in Amarillo in the case.

Roger Young was arraigned Saturday morning. Bond was set at $2,000 by Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson. He was remanded to Randall County Jail.

Monte Dale Lewis, 17, of Singer, Calif., remains in Potter County Jail where he faces forgery charges in a separate case.

Leroy Sutton of Amarillo, told police he met two men, one of the men's wife and a juvenile on July 4.

He said the four drove him in his car to a dirt road near Whitaker Road and into Randall County, according to Randall County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen.

Dowlen said Sutton told of being kicked unconscious and left in a barrow ditch. He said he had been robbed of his billfold, containing about $10 and a watch.

Sutton said the four later returned, stripped him of his clothes, beat and kicked him again and then took him into Amarillo where he was kicked out of the car, according to Dowlen.

Horsemanship Interest Soars

Interest in the horsemanship program which is to begin this fall at West Texas State University has soared.

Dr. Charles Smallwood, dean of the School of Agriculture, said during the summer he has received between 300 and 400 inquiries about the program.

He said the letters have come from throughout the country.

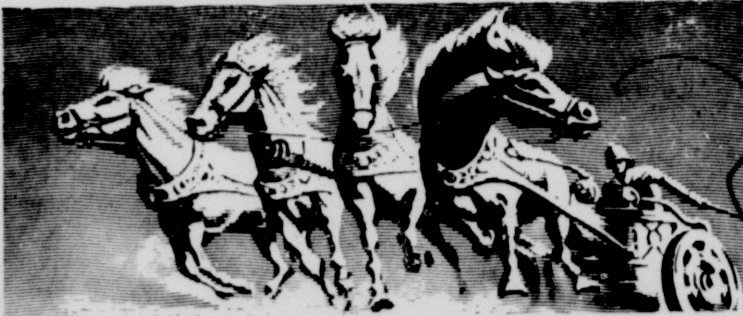

Dr. Smallwood said several new sections have been added to the program to meet the demand. "Two girls from Illinois visited here Monday," he said. "They will transfer here in January. They had inquired about the program and had seen about it in a magazine."

The horse program activities will be centered at WTSU's new Nance Ranch east of the city.

work with during the spring. Converted defenders Joe Fiola, Gary Rusten and Steve Jones are counted on for solid performances this fall, but they still have a great deal to learn.
Fiola, a 1969 squadman at defensive guard, was so impressive during spring training he took over the starting left tackle berth. The 6-1, 235-pounder transferred from Citrus Junior College in California.
Adams and Fiola will be backed up by sophomores Billy Taylor, Jim Hankins and Frank Catalina.
Donoho is backed up at right guard by Seminole sophomore Steve Jones, who missed most of spring drills with a shoulder injury. He underwent surgery in May and the 6-1, 222-pounder is expected to be at full strength this fall. He played defense last fall.

Junior letterman Reginald Bassett, 235-pounder from Fort Worth, was starting at the end of spring training at left guard. He is backed by talented sophomore Gary Rusten. The 6-1, 205-pounder from San Antonio played on the varsity last fall as the swing defensive guard.
Veteran Jerry Cryer and sophomore Don Coker are the two top center prospects. Cryer is described by Harris as a "solid ball player," and Coker as a "bright prospect who is big and quick."
Cryer, 6-1, 197-pounder from Austin, started several games last fall and is a two-year letterman. He has been used for the past two years for long center snaps on punts, field goals and extra points.
Cryer is the fourth player from Travis High School in Austin who has been a starter for the Buffaloes. Others have been Bobby Duncum, Doug Kriewald and Earl Clardy.

Coker, who is 6-3 and 225, is from Dallas. Squadman Milton Young from Fort Worth is another varsity center prospect.
Willie Walker returns as the tight end, Daryl Wynn as the split end and Robert Jackson as the flanker. The 1969 leading receiver, halfback Olan Thompson, is also returning.
Thompson led the team with 23 receptions for 231 yards and two touchdowns. Wynn caught 15 passes, while Jackson and Walker had 13 receptions each.
Wynn, 6-4, 220-pound junior from Follett, carried his 15 receptions 177 yards. He had a 60-yard catch for a touchdown called back because of a penalty against the University of Southern Mississippi.
Walker came to West Texas from Freeport, N. Y., as a tryout fullback. He played that position as a freshman before being switched to tight end. He's 6-2 and 227 and is considered by the Buffalo coaching staff as a rugged blocker.
Jackson managed 333 yards with his 13 catches and scored two touchdowns. He averaged 25.6 yards per catch.
The three receivers are backed up by a pair of lettermen and a red-shirt sophomore.
Senior Don Moon finished spring drills as the number two tight end, junior letterman Ron Willingham was the second flanker and sophomore Mike McCullough was the second split end.
Wynn was forced into duty last fall when starting split end Dick Flynn received a badly injured knee before the season started. McCullough is a former all-stater from Tulia. Sophomore Attila Vagh is also in the split end picture.
Both Moon and Willingham saw enough duty last fall to letter. The coaching staff considers Moon to have one of the better pair of hands on the ball club.
Senior squadman Leroy Broaden will battle with Jackson and Willingham for the flanker berth.

DALE DONOHO

During Mrs. Cole's Tuesday lecture, she showed paintings done by fourth graders she had previously taught. Some of the paintings were done by children with lower intelligence quotients, she said.
"I don't pay any attention to the I. Q.'s," she said.
"Some of the children with the so-called low I.Q.'s were able to express themselves, their inner feelings, beautifully on a piece of paper," she added.
"A teacher needs to give the children the fundamentals of art in a way they can absorb it—not so that it will tie them in knots. If the children do it, they will be 100,000 percent honest," she said.
"Art for imitation is gone—we've got the color cameras for that. Children should be taught that their art is to be something of themselves, not a copy of someone else's," she said.
Her Wednesday program was devoted to creative dancing. The students and the children in the Canyon Public School kindergarten used as a laboratory experience for the students, danced and clapped their hands to music, letting movement overpower their inhibitions.
"Sometimes it is hard for a teacher to move to the music," Mrs. Cole said.
"But it is easy to do if the door is closed. Just tell the children to do it their own way," she said.

picture of a person without a body, just the head and arms, that's all right. We can't tell a child to see where the arms come from—when he's ready to put the arms where they belong, he'll put them there," said the former classroom teacher who now spends her time lecturing at workshops and conducting extension courses.
"We can have good pictures from these children on anything. If a painting is good right side up, it's good upside down. Beauty is a matter of filling up space," she said.
"Children's art is so wonderful," she said. "Sometimes people forget to tell you why it's wonderful. The children, if they lose their layers of inhibition, let their paintings be an expression of themselves. Art gets more and more sterile as the child goes from grade to grade. We can help control this, though."

Dress Review Begins Today

Eight girls and one boy are competing today and tomorrow in the annual 4-H Dress Review, according to Becky Hall, Randall County Home Demonstration Agent.
The two-day review is to begin at 8 a.m. today in the Farm Bureau Building.
Glenda Hollenstein is mistress of ceremonies and Linda Hales is the narrator of the fashion parade.
Mrs. Anton Hollenstein, 4-H Club Fund Treasurer and Junior Leader sponsor, will make the awards certificate presentations along with Mrs. Hall.
The theme of this year's review is "Great Fashion Numbers."
One senior winner will be selected to compete in the District Fashion Show in Amarillo Aug. 4 in the Villa Inn.
Two junior winners will go along to model, but will not be judged as there is no junior category in the state competition.
Four winners at the district level will be selected to represent about 20 counties of the Panhandle at the Texas State Fair in the fall.
Escorts for the models at the district meeting will be each county's delegate to the district council.
Randy Dugan will represent Randall County.
Members of the clothing committee are Mesdames Hollenstein, Jones Hales and Glenn Williams.
The refreshments committee consists of Mesdames W. A. Branum, Mervin Davis and Jim Irlbeck, members of the Home Demonstration Club Council.
Music at the local dress review will be provided by Carolyn Kite.
Those participating in the local dress review are: Millie Hales, Linda Hales, Debbie Hales, Larry Hales, Glenda Hollenstein and Pam Friemel from the Randall Club; Terry Reynolds from the Clea Club; and Ivy Dugan and Becky Williams from the Wagon Wheel Club.

tions. With 670 acres of cultivated land tillable, cleared and ideally suited for institutional use that problem is solved, Smallwood said.
Nance at one time had one of the largest registered Hereford herds in the Southwest until 1953, when drought and poor health forced curtailment of operations.
At that time he held a spectacular three-day sale in which 2,000 buyers and on-lookers gathered to see Nance auction off 1,000 head of registered Herefords. The purebred sale was the largest anywhere in 25 years.
Born in Lavaca County in South Texas and reared near Electra, Nance took over the Canyon ranch around 1924. Utilizing the most modern farm methods, he quickly made his barns, yards and other physical facilities a model for industrial copy.

The pavilion, used by George Nance for numerous stock shows and sales, will be integrated into the university's plans for its horseman-ship courses, field days, laboratories, sales and 4-H and FFA contests, says Dr. Charles M. Smallwood, Dean of the School of Agriculture.

Spec. 5 John E. Wilson, brother of Carroll Wilson of Canyon, has returned home from a 13-month tour of duty in Korea. Specialist Wilson was stationed with the second Armored Division. He will be on leave 30 days prior to reporting for duty to Fort Riley, Kan. He formerly attended Amarillo College before joining the U. S. Army.

Mrs. Cole is the author of two books on art in the classroom. The first one was entitled "The Arts in the Classroom." The second, "Children's Arts from Down Deep Inside," stresses that the child's arts are in the child, that the teacher's role is to help them come out.
The material in the book is gathered from children in a half dozen schools, varying in nationality and economic background.
Mrs. Cole received her bachelor's degree from the University of California at Los Angeles after she had been teaching for several years. She has written many articles and has lectured in over half the states.
The kindergarten curriculum course is being taught for the first time this year, according to Dr. Lowes.
Several guest lecturers have been invited to talk to the students, mostly elementary school teachers.
Eighteen children who will be in the first grade in the fall are enrolled in a summer kindergarten program which the students in the kindergarten course are using for a laboratory experience. Miss Sharon Lewallen of Dumas is the teacher.
The kindergarten was organized by the Canyon Independent School District, and the district co-operates with the WTSU School of Education in letting it be used as a laboratory experience.

During Mrs. Cole's Tuesday lecture, she showed paintings done by fourth graders she had previously taught. Some of the paintings were done by children with lower intelligence quotients, she said.
"I don't pay any attention to the I. Q.'s," she said.

News Briefs

July 22 has been named the date for the swimming party for junior high students at the First United Methodist Church. The party will be from 8-10 p.m. at the city pool. Cost is 25 cents per person and church members may bring guests.
Dr. and Mrs. Bill Conway and children from Tucson, Ariz., are spending the summer in the Merle McFarland country home in Happy. Conway is a former mathematics teacher at West Texas State University. He is now teaching at the University of Arizona.
The John Knowles are vacationing with their children in Houston, Arlington and Dallas.

cent of the "entire vote cast for governor in the precinct in the last general election."
Judge Brown contends that Davis should have filed his intent to become a candidate not later than Feb. 2 the same as candidates who ran for office in the party primaries.
Davis contends this part of the law is not applicable to an independent.
Hearing on the petition for mandamus is set for 9 o'clock Friday morning in 47th District Court before Judge Gene Jordan.
The Butler-Davis-Brown hassle to be a continuation of the schism of the Randall County Republican Party which began during the 1968 campaigns.
Many Randall Republicans worked for the nomination of Ronald Reagan for the Presidency. When the California governor failed to get the nomination some of them threw their support behind the candidacy of Governor George Wallace of Alabama, becoming associated with the American Party.
Records here reflect that Davis and many of his supporters in the bid to become an independent candidate opposing Butler were associated with the American Party.
